Homily

Today is the 28th Sunday in Ordinary Time. Today's gospel teaches us concerning The Kingdom of Heaven is an invitation from God. It is a feast given for free, and Kingdom of Heaven is open to all who accept it. The problem is that only few accept this life saving invitation. Many are more concerned and put more value on the 'World' than the Kingdom of Heaven. The chief priests and the elders were primarily invited to the Kingdom of Heaven, but they refused the invitation and absorbed in satisfying their greed. In order to enter the Kingdom of Heaven, there are few prerequisites. Accepting the invitation and not having adequate qualification and preparation can make it impossible to enter the Kingdom.

According to today's first reading, the book of Isaiah the Kingdom of Heaven is where God is the Lord who saves us. God removes all the elements of death, wash away all our tears, and throw a splendid feast for us in the Kingdom. Where we can be fully enjoy and be delight.

Paul the apostle promises that we can enjoy the affluence of God through Jesus, and the affluence will fill us fully up to the rim. Paul explained that how he was able to endure all the calamities and hardship of the world is due to these spiritual riches given by God through Jesus. This affluence comes from God, and that riches are Kingdom of Heaven. The Kingdom of Heaven is where all our hope lies and our salvation is fulfilled. Entering into the Kingdom of Heaven is our salvation and ultimate goal.

Jesus explains a parable about the Kingdom of Heaven to the chief priests and the elders. He compares it to a feast of matrimony which a king prepares for his son. But the invited guests refused the invitation. The reason for refusal is to do their everyday work. They do not take the invitation seriously. They refuse the king's invitation and this make the king angry and order to his servants to kill them all.

The chief priests and the elders are the first ones invited, but they refused the king's invitation. They take their work more seriously than the invitation. Though they are invited to accept the words of God, they are actually and solely interested in their works to satisfy their greed. God will eventually punish them. They do not put more value on the works of God but only think in the human level.

The one who is not dressed up is also punished. The Kingdom of Heaven is open to all who accept the invitation. Even an evil one can enter into it. And to enter into the Kingdom of Heaven, we have to wear right clothing. It means that even an evil person can enter into the Kingdom if he or she wears it correctly. However, if not wearing an adequate clothing despite acceptance of the invitation, it shows the same action that the chief priests and the elders do. It is the same as the refusal of the invitation.

We are also called to the invitation of the Kingdom of Heaven and became Christians. However, if we do not follow Jesus truly, we cannot enter into the Kingdom of Heaven. We must act as rightly since we are invited. We must be obedient to the words of God.

The chief priests and the elders are invited to the Kingdom of Heaven but are not suitable for entering into the Kingdom. Jesus points out that they betray God more than everyone, though they are considered closer to God. They do not have a mind for the works of God, but put their thoughts in their works. They are not interested in the words of God and do not strive to act on the words of God.

We have to focus on what is wearing the right clothing. As a priest, I have to think about whether I wear the right clothing to approach the feast. Though I am in the feast, I can see that I do not have any mind to be in, being ill

-prepared, and living at my disposal. Offering Sacraments does not rightly show bad clothing.

We have to answer rightly to the invitation of the Kingdom of Heaven. We have to be obedient to the words of God. We have to get out of ways of sins and darkness to keep the commandments of God before it is too late. We have to take part in the feast of the Kingdom of Heaven joyfully. We have to participate in the grace given by God and wash away our sins and death.

Liturgy Q&A

How To Take Your Kids To Mass (3/4)
 Dress for the occasion – Taking the time to help the kids look nice will help to teach them the importance of going to Mass. It's not just another play date or a trip to the park, we are going to God's house and Jesus is there waiting for us. We want to look our best for Him. Children seem to grasp the importance of this and express it in their respectful behavior. Bring supplies – There are differences of opinion on this one and I have to say that our supplies have changed based on the personality of each of my children. Some of my kids can respectfully munch on cheerios and it helps them to keep quiet during Mass, others have found the need to throw those same cheerios at other parishioners. Your supply bag depends on the personality and needs of your children. We have a firm rule that after age two there are no snacks allowed. For babies and toddlers cheerios, baby food pouches, and the occasional sucker can help worn out parents sit in Mass and pray. We also bring three "holy" books. The older boys are able to follow along in a children's missal. Participate and explain the Mass – Kids love to join in singing and praying the prayers they know (this is part of the practice). Help them to not just be observers and bystanders, but to actually take part in the celebration of the Mass. Whisper to them what is going on during the most important parts, "Now this is when the bread becomes Jesus! Watch and pray that Jesus would be in you too." They will start to look forward to those special times in which you bring them close to you and share the faith in a simple way.
