Homily

Solemnity of the Most Holy Trinity

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,
Greetings of peace to you all.
Recently, we held a Legio Mariae (Legion of Mary) initiation ceremony. After the pledge, we took commemorative photos and gave blessings. It was a joyful occasion, filled with celebration and encouragement. However, something unusual happened during this particular ceremony. One of the sisters was moved to tears as she made her pledge. It seemed that the words of the pledge truly touched her heart. She recited: "Today, I solemnly resolve, fully believing that You have accepted me, that You will use me, and that You will transform my weakness into strength. I humbly take my place among the ranks of the Legion and pledge to serve with fidelity. I will obey the rules of the Legion without reserve. These rules bind me to my fellow members, shaping us into a united army, advancing with the Blessed Mother to fulfill Your will and bring about the miracles of grace." This sister did not merely read the pledge with her eyes; she read it with her heart. And because she read with her heart, I believe she will live it out with her life.

Jesus once told a story about two sons. A father told his first son to go work in the field. The son said no, but later changed his mind and went. The second son said he would go, but didn't. Jesus asked, "Which of the two did the will of the father?" The people answered, "The first." We humans have five senses: sight, hearing, smell, touch, and taste. But the most important sense may be the heart—the ability to see, hear, sense, and perceive with the heart. The Triune God is a God who communicates not merely through the senses, but through the heart. Thus, the priest prays: "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Spirit be with you all." Jesus prayed to the Father with all His heart and soul. The Holy Spirit lovingly embraces the Church. God the Father, with the Son and the Spirit, invites us to salvation.

Our relationship with the Triune God is similar. The mystery of the Trinity is not grasped through the senses, but experienced when we open the doors of our hearts. The Trinity may be theologically deep and philosophically complex, but existentially, it is an intimate and familiar mystery. St. Augustine explained the Trinity as: "The one who loves (the Father), the one who is loved (the Son), and the love itself (the Holy Spirit)." God is not a solitary being, but One who exists in relationship from the very beginning. So it is with our lives. Human beings, made in the image of God, are meant for relational, heartfelt communion. That's why St. Paul says, "We even boast in our afflictions, knowing that affliction produces endurance, endurance proven character, and proven character hope." Suffering, when seen through relationships and trust, takes on new meaning.
Plato once spoke of "the eye of the soul." There are truths we cannot see with our physical eyes but can perceive with the eyes of the heart. The mystery of the Trinity is one such truth. It is not fully grasped with the intellect alone, but is understood through love, lived in experience.

The early Church did not begin with a theory of the Trinity. They experienced the Triune God, and their faith gradually formed the theology and doctrine of the Trinity. For them, God was a God of communion, sharing, and love. The Father gave all authority to Jesus. Jesus used this authority entirely according to the Father's will. The Holy Spirit embraced the Church with warmth, giving courage and strength. That is why the early Church baptized "in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit," and placed the Trinity at the center of their faith. The family is the most ideal earthly image of Trinitarian communion, sharing, and love. The authority of a father should be used for the health and happiness of the family. The love of a mother should be revealed through care and sacrifice. Children who receive their parents' care and love become the hope and future of the family.

Every time we make the Sign of the Cross, every time we pray the "Glory Be," let us resolve to live in the mystery of the Trinity and seek its grace. Let us not receive our faith only through the eyes, ears, and intellect, but through the heart and through our lives. Then we will truly become children who live in the grace of the Most Holy Trinity.

Pastor Je Hyoung Cho
