Homily

Feast of the Baptism of the Lord

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ!

There was once a movie titled The Hunchback of Notre Dame. Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris stands as a grand stage of human life, a place where human sin and hope echo together. Within that story, Quasimodo, mocked and rejected by the world because of his appearance, is portrayed as a man with a heart that is purer than anyone else’s. The actor who played Quasimodo, Anthony Quinn, was himself the son of Mexican immigrants and grew up amid poverty and discrimination. Perhaps for that reason, he was able to express Quasimodo’s loneliness and inner depth with remarkable authenticity. The scene in which Quasimodo shelters Esmeralda within the sanctuary of the cathedral remains unforgettable.

It reflects the mercy of God who embraces and protects the weak. The world continues to judge people by appearance, status, and conditions. But God looks into the depth of the human heart. Through the lives of Quasimodo and Anthony Quinn, this truth is revealed once again. This story reminds me of an elderly woman who lived next door when I was a child. She lived alone and raised cats, and her back was bent like a hunchback’s. At first, she frightened me, but she was in fact very kind and gentle. Sometimes she would give me food. On the door of her house, she displayed movie posters. The local theater gave her free tickets, and she would occasionally pass those tickets on to me. With them, I watched animated films and historical movies such as Admiral Yi Sun-sin. Her bent back was not a deformity of birth. It was the result of a life battered by waves of hardship and suffering.

A few days ago, I listened to a lecture by our bishop. He shared the story of a “hunchback father.” A daughter who was about to be married found herself deeply troubled. Her future husband’s family was wealthy and refined, while her own family was poor, and her father’s back was badly bent. She did not want to enter the wedding ceremony holding her father’s hand. Instead, she asked to walk in with her uncle. Her brother scolded her harshly. But the father simply said that his back had been hurting lately and told her to walk with the uncle. Using his pain as an excuse, the father chose not to attend his only daughter’s wedding. Later, the daughter became pregnant. She suffered from severe morning sickness and began to long for the food her mother used to prepare.

One day, while going to the supermarket with her husband, she saw her father entering the store carrying a bag. She pretended not to recognize him. When she returned home, the supermarket owner called and said that someone had left something for her. She went back and received the bag. Inside were homemade cheonggukjang and kimchi, foods prepared by her mother. There was also a note written by her father “I heard you are pregnant. Your mother made cheonggukjang and kimchi for you. Please take care not to catch a cold and stay healthy.” Though the daughter had been ashamed of her father and did not walk with him at her wedding, the father never stopped loving her.

Quietly and without complaint, he came to care for his pregnant daughter. The prophet Isaiah proclaims “Can a woman forget her nursing child? Even if she should forget, I will never forget you.” This is one of the most beautiful expressions of God’s love. That same God sent His beloved Son, Jesus Christ, for the people of Israel who had wandered far from Him. That same God sent His beloved Son for us, who so often place worldly things before God’s will. Today we celebrate the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord. When Jesus was baptized, the Holy Spirit descended like a dove, and a voice was heard “This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased.” When we receive Baptism, we too become children of God, sons and daughters in whom God delights. At Baptism, the priest proclaims,

“I baptize you, Gabriel, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.” In that moment, a true name, a Christian name, is given. Though we already have the names given by our parents, through Baptism we receive a new identity as children of God. That is why, when elders once asked me, “What is your real name?” I answered, “Gabriel.” Today’s second reading shows us the path we are called to follow “He went about doing good and healing all who were oppressed by the devil, for God was with him.” On this Feast of the Baptism of the Lord, we are invited to reflect on whether we are living lives truly transformed by our Baptism.

Each of us has a baptismal name. We did not choose it simply because it sounded nice, was easy to pronounce, or matched our birthday. We chose it to follow the lives of the saints who already live eternally in heaven. We seek their intercession and example as we journey through the rough waves of this world. Today, I invite you to meditate on your own baptismal name. And for those who have not yet received Baptism, may you prepare well to receive this sacrament, through which sins are forgiven and we are reborn as children of God.
