강론

Sixth Sunday of Easter Homily

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ, There is a saying: "Stop a fight, but encourage a fair negotiation." During their conflict, the United States and Iran attempted to negotiate. The United States presented fifteen conditions, and Iran responded with five of its own. Each side proposed terms that the other could not accept. What is most important in negotiation is trust. And what is equally important is the willingness to give something of what we desire to the other. This is true even in our parish life. When we prepare the Mass schedule, Father Yoon arranges it about three months in advance. Once the schedule is finalized, it is placed in the sacristy, and the sacristans prepare the vestments accordingly. Even as pastor, I cannot arrange the schedule only for my own convenience. If I did so, trust would be broken. Nor is it good to change the schedule unilaterally. At first, people may accept it, but if it happens repeatedly, hearts can close. When we consider what others need, we can celebrate the Mass with joy.

Jesus did not lead His disciples in a one sided way. First, He showed them by example. He did not rebuke Thomas for his weak faith. Instead, He showed him His hands and His side and said, "Do you believe because you have seen me? Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believe." Then Thomas confessed, "My Lord and my God!" To the disciples on the road to Emmaus, Jesus patiently explained the Scriptures and broke bread with them. And they said, "Were not our hearts burning within us as He spoke to us?" Jesus also said, "I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep." And He carried the cross Himself. He washed the feet of His disciples and said, "I have given you an example, that you also should do as I have done to you."

Jesus said, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life." The way is not a highway or a private road. It is the path of sacrifice—walking not just one mile, but two miles with a friend. It is the path of clearing stones and thorns. It is not the path of power, honor, or worldly success, but the path where God's greater glory is revealed and His will is fulfilled. Life is not only for ourselves. It is not something that ignores the life of others. Every life is a gift from God whether one is a sinner, the sick, the lonely, the poor, or even a stranger. All are born to receive God's love. Truth does not imprison others, nor does it exclude them. The truth of Christ is love that is willing to lay down one's life for a friend. It is hope that does not fade even in suffering and despair. It is not of this world, but a faith that leads us beyond death into eternal life through the Resurrection.

Today is the Sixth Sunday of Easter. The key message of today's readings is the Holy Spirit. Jesus promised to send the Advocate. From the beginning, God created the world. He sent prophets to guide His people. Because He loved the world so much, He sent His only Son. Jesus proclaimed the Kingdom of God in Galilee, preached the Good News, died on the cross, and rose again. The risen Lord gave peace to His disciples and sent them the Holy Spirit. The Church, established by Christ, now begins its mission with the Holy Spirit. That is why the first reading tells us: "They had only been baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus, and the Holy Spirit had not yet come upon any of them. Then the apostles laid their hands on them, and they received the Holy Spirit."

The second reading also says: "If you are insulted for the name of Christ, you are blessed, because the Spirit of glory and of God rests upon you." Faith, in many ways, is simple. It is doing for others what we desire for ourselves. It is sharing willingly what is precious to us. A person who lives this way can "stop a fight and foster true agreement." At the proper time, the risen Lord said: "If you love me, keep my commandments. And I will ask the Father, and He will give you another Advocate to be with you forever." May we live in the guidance of the Holy Spirit, and walk together in the way, the truth, and the life of Christ.
