Pentecost Sunday

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ, When I was serving at a parish in Brooklyn, about 80 people usually attended Sunday Mass. I once told the parishioners that if more than 100 people came to Mass, I would buy everyone ice cream. That happened only about twice a year at Christmas and Easter. I happily bought the ice cream. Then, on February 11, 2024, I came to St. Andrew Kim Korean Catholic Church in Dallas. At that time, a little over 700 people attended Sunday Mass. I jokingly said that if attendance ever exceeded 1,000 people, I would buy lunch for everyone. Honestly, I never thought that would happen. I could not imagine 200 more people suddenly coming. Last year, attendance often exceeded 800. This year, there were already two Sundays with more than 900 people. Then came Easter Sunday. I was told that chairs had to be placed not only inside the church but also throughout the hallways outside the sanctuary.

Today's Gospel reminds me of the moment when Jesus told Peter to cast the net to the right side of the boat. The disciples had caught nothing all night. But when they obeyed Jesus and cast the net again, the net became so full of fish that they could hardly lift it. Later they counted 153 fish. The disciples were amazed. This past Easter, 1,155 people attended Mass. I was amazed, and the parishioners were amazed as well. As promised, I bought lunch for everyone. There was a famous Korean movie titled "Why Did Bodhidharma Leave for the East?" The answer was simple: to seek enlightenment. In my own way, I have reflected on why 1,155 people came to Easter Mass.

First, there are geographical reasons. Texas has become one of the most popular states for relocation in the United States. The weather is favorable, taxes are relatively lower, and the cost of living is more affordable compared to places like New York or Los Angeles. Many Korean Catholics are moving here from other states and from Korea. Second, there is the church itself. Nine years ago, in 2017, this parish moved to its current location and built a new church. Before that, the old church downtown was too small and had very limited parking. Later, when the community worshipped in a converted warehouse building at Valley View, parishioners affectionately called it the "warehouse church." Now, the new church in Irving has a spacious parking lot, classrooms and fellowship halls for many purposes, a basketball court, a children's playground, and an outdoor Way of the Cross. The church building itself is bright and beautiful. It was built through the tears, sweat, sacrifices, and generosity of the parish community. It is also conveniently located near the highway.

Third, there is the parish's "New Parishioner Ministry." When the new church was built, the previous pastor created this ministry. Members of the ministry carefully look for newcomers at every Mass almost like having the eyes of hawks. They organize the newcomers' information in a database, connect them with small faith communities, and invite them to meals after Mass for about a month to help them adjust to parish life. They also help newcomers with housing information, children's education, employment guidance, and even hobbies and social activities. Every two months, new parishioners are introduced during the principal Sunday Mass and receive small gifts. Once a year, the parish also hosts a fellowship gathering especially for them. Jesus, the Good Shepherd, said that He knows His sheep by name and lays down His life for them. The members of the New Parishioner Ministry imitate the Good Shepherd by lovingly caring for new families. People often say that fishermen do not feed the fish once they are caught. But our New Parishioner Ministry continues to care for and nourish those who newly arrive.

Fourth, there is the spirit and atmosphere of the parish itself. Next year, our parish will celebrate its 50th anniversary. The founding members planted the seeds of faith. They invited priests and built a community. The priests watered those seeds with love and enriched the community with spiritual nourishment. There were difficult moments throughout the years, but guided by the Holy Spirit, the community overcame them well. Just as the ground becomes firmer after rain, our parish has become a stronger community of faith, unity, and fellowship. While many Korean immigrant communities are aging, our parish has a relatively large younger generation and strong family presence. The parish Korean School, with its long tradition, has also become a great source of evangelization. Every Saturday, more than 150 students come to learn the Korean language and culture. Some are children of parishioners, while others come from the local community. Naturally, many parents and children who first encounter the church through the school eventually become people of faith.

Three years ago, the Archdiocese of Seoul also sent an associate pastor to our parish. He celebrates English Masses and focuses especially on youth ministry. He generously provides spiritual nourishment to our young people. As Koreans say, "It is easy to add one more spoon to a table that is already prepared." I feel blessed simply to add my own small spoon to the beautiful work already being done here. All of this has been possible because of the love of God, the grace of Jesus Christ, and the fellowship of the Holy Spirit. Today we celebrate the Solemnity of Pentecost, and during today's Mass, the Sacrament of Confirmation will be conferred. Each of you received one of the Gifts of the Holy Spirit today. I received the gift of "Fortitude." I hope that the gifts we received today may become visible through our words and actions.

And perhaps one day, through the fruits of the Holy Spirit, we may even see 2,000 people gathered for Mass. As Saint Paul says in today's reading: "There are different kinds of spiritual gifts but the same Spirit; different forms of service but the same Lord; different workings but the same God who produces all of them in everyone. To each individual the manifestation of the Spirit is given for some benefit." (1 Corinthians 12:4-7) May the Holy Spirit continue to guide and bless our parish community.
